

CITY'S WATER IS PRONOUNCED PURE

Report on Complete Analysis by State Department Reveals it is Free of Disease Germs

COMPREHENSIVE TEST MADE

Believed Pin Worms Bred in Dead
Ends of Mains Have Been Flushed
Out—Precautions Taken

A complete analysis of the city water was received this morning by A. T. Mahin, superintendent of the city water and light plant, in which all reports stated that the water was satisfactory, and free from any disease germs.

The report was made after a series of tests during the last two weeks, in which samples of the water were taken from all sections of the city, from the wells and from the reservoir.

No trace was found of any disease or bacteria, according to the chemical analysis of the state department. The water contains all elements that designate it as a "satisfactory water," with enough vegetable matter in it, to pass any bacteriological test.

The reservoir is being drained daily in order to flush out the mains and keep the tank in a sanitary condition. No report of pin worms has been received lately, and it is the belief that the small amount of them that were bred in the dead ends of the mains, have been flushed out. Dr. E. I. Wooden, city health commissioner, reviewed the chemical reports this morning, and stated that the water was pure.

It will be recalled that the matter was first brought to the attention of the superintendent and health officers when small worms were found in some sections of the city. These are believed to have been rain water worms, eggs of which were hatched in the mains.

In the list of water sent in for a test was one from a well on a farm west of Rushville, as the farmer wanted the water tested, and this report came back to the health office stating that the water was not satisfactory, and advised that steps be taken to have the well cleaned or abandoned for drinking purposes. This well has no connection with the city water. Any individual who has a well can have the water tested free of charge by paying the express on the containers, which is usually 85 cents.

TO DEVELOP TEAMS FOR STATE FAIR COMPETITION

Plan is Announced to Have Rush
County Represented in Livestock
Judging Contest

INSTRUCTORS COMING AUG. 11

Plans are under way to develop a live stock judging team among the boys to represent Rush county at the Indiana state fair.

Any Rush county boy between the ages of 15 and 19 inclusive is eligible for the team.

This will afford excellent training for the boys, as every farmer must become a competent judge of livestock if he meets with financial success when he fills his feed lots or when he buys breeding animals.

Prof. Goble of Purdue will be here August 11th to give the boys instructions. This day of instruction will be given on the following farms near Rushville—Miller Whitton's, horses; John Boyd's, dairy cattle and hogs; Noah Webb, sheep.

All boys interested will be divided into classes after August 11th, in charge of Paul Imel, Manilla, E. E. Privett, Rushville, and Herschel VanMatre, county agent.

DRIVING WHILE DRUNK

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 1—Thomas Carroll, 38, of Peoria, Ill., was under arrest today charged with driving an auto while intoxicated after his auto crashed into a safety zone guard last night. Carroll and his companion, Miss Marie Kooztz, Indianapolis, escaped serious injury. She was slated for drunkenness.

COUNTY OFFICES EXAMINED

State Board Examiner Will be Joined

The examiners will go over the records of all the county officers before leaving the county, it is stated. It is customary to examine the offices of county and city officers once a year, and this is the first time examiners have been here since last year.

BUILDING WORK MAKING HEADWAY

Endres-Tompkins Furniture Plant
Will Soon be Under Roof and Ready for Machinery

GARAGE IS READY FOR ROOF

Remodeling of Masonic Temple
Room Making Progress—Front
Being Installed in Allen Room

Although handicapped by rain during the past few weeks, construction work in Rushville is making good headway.

Both wings of the Endres-Tompkins Furniture company's new plant are practically under roof. All of the sheeting has been laid and the roofing will be completed within the next few days. The floor will then be laid and the window glass put in, and the plant will be ready for the installation of machinery.

The steel supports for the roof of the Chrysler garage being built in the rear of the Masonic temple, will be put in place Monday and the roof will be put on, so that the building will be ready for occupancy within a very short time.

The south room of the Masonic temple is rapidly being remodeled and converted into two rooms. The south one will be occupied by a new bakery to be opened by Jacob Weber and the north half will be used as a sales, display and parts room by the Rushville Auto Sales company. The Rushville Auto Sales company with the garage being built in the rear.

A lobby is being built at the entrance and doors will lead from it into the auto sales room and the bakery. A glass partition will separate the auto display and sales room and the retail department of the bakery. A second floor is being built in the rear of each room.

The front is being installed in the L. L. Allen grocery room just across the street from the Masonic temple and it will soon be ready for occupancy. A hot water heating plant is being installed. Three large skylights will provide light.

Progress is being made on several pieces of residence property that are under construction.

CONFIRM TAX REDUCTION PLAN

Pres. Coolidge Favors Plan Proposed
by Rep. Madden

Swampscott, Mass., Aug. 1—(UP)—President Coolidge today considered the new tax reduction plan, which is more drastic than anyone heretofore advanced.

He approved most of the features of the plan which were laid before him by Representative Madden of Illinois, chairman of the powerful house appropriations committee.

If the treasury experts say that these rates will raise enough revenue to keep the government going, the president will favor them.

Madden outlined the plan to President Coolidge at a conference at the summer White House yesterday and then left for Washington. The plan would cut taxes by $350,000,000, Madden believes. He hopes through his committee to hold down government expenditures to $3,100,000,000. This would be $125,000,000 less than this year.

Success of Well Just Over Line in Henry County Stirs Activity in This County

OKLAHOMA MEN ARRIVE

Rigging is Set up and Drilling Will Start Soon—Leases Sold and Land Prices Increase

Northern Rush county is all agog over the prospects of oil, according to word received here today. The influx from Oklahoma oil fields is beginning, and several wells are being financed. Leases on farm land are being taken, and companies are being formed.

A well that was sunk recently east of Knightstown, and also on the Rush county line, was at first believed to have been a ten barrel a day well, but when it was rigged up with a pump, it was working six barrels an hour. The pump was working day and night, when a wrist pin broke, and caused a delay of several days.

Word from the northern part of the county stated that several oil experts from the Oklahoma fields are here, and have predicted great futures for this section. It is understood that one of them has taken out a great many leases in Rush county land, and expects to finance the operation of a company soon.

A well is planned on a farm soon, and a drilling rig is on the ground ready to begin operations. An effort to buy farm land in northern Rush county was made; it was understood, and the prospective purchaser could not touch it for less than $200 an acre, which indicates that the price of farm land will be greatly benefited if successful oil drilling is made.

JULY PROVES A QUIET MONTH

Fire Department Answers 2 Alarms
—6 Marriage Licenses Issued

The month of July was an exceptionally quiet one in two places of the city.

The city fire department enjoyed a long vacation, and is still enjoying it, having answered only two calls during July, and both of them were on July 4, four weeks from today.

The clerk that issues marriage licenses at the county clerk's office had plenty of time for other things, as only a half dozen couples were granted licenses to wed during the entire 31 days.

MOUNTAIN OF FLOWERS MARKS BRYAN'S GRAVE

Last Rites Said Over the Commoner
Late Friday in Brilliant Rays of Afternoon Sun

MONUMENT MAY BE ERECTED

Washington, Aug. 1—(UP)—A mountain of flowers today marked the spot where William Jennings Bryan lies buried on the heights of Arlington Cemetery.

Magnificent floral tributes from giant set pieces to simple bunches of sweet-peas and roses, were heaped high around his grave. Hundreds of visitors went to the new shrine among many shrines in the national cemetery.

The last rites were said over the Commoner late yesterday in the brilliant rays of the afternoon sun, which broke through the clouds and rain that had shrouded the city all day.

The services were extremely simple. Rev. J. R. Sizoo of the "Church of the presidents" read the prayers and committed the body to earth. Rev. George Stewart, Birmingham, Ala., pronounced a brief eulogy at the grave side.

Mrs. Bryan, who had not looked on the face of her husband in death, did not witness the interment. With her son, William Jennings Bryan, Jr., she sat in a limousine a score of yards away weeping, while the clergyman intoned "dust to dust" and a sexton filled the grave.

A clear note of a bugle sounding "taps" muffled commands to the military escort and Bryan was left to rest.

Later perhaps a big monument will be erected at the spot to proclaim the burial place of the Commoner.

IVY COMPANY IS READY TO LEAVE

Rushville Uniform Rank Will Take Part in Two-State Encampment
Next Week at Martinsville

LOCAL MEN ON PROGRAM

Major General Trabue and Senator
Watson Will Have Active Part in Various Phases of Activities

Ivy Company 37 Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias of Rushville, has completed arrangements for the Indiana-Illinois Joint Encampment, to be held next week in Martinsville, and the local company will be well represented at all sessions, taking part especially in the grand review to be held on Wednesday.

Some of the officers from this city are leaving Sunday, and will be on hand for the entire week, while others will leave on different days and take part only at some of the programs.

An effort is being made to have as large a representative of the membership present as possible for the grand parade and review, which is to be the feature event of the week.

The informal opening of the camp and reception of visiting Sir Knights and companies will take place Sunday, and the formal dedication of the camp will be made Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, with talks and ceremonies in charge of officers. Samuel L. Trabue of this city, major general, commanding the Uniform Rank, will be on the opening program and with Senator Watson will respond briefly to the address of welcome delivered by Emmett Branch, former governor of Indiana, who is a resident of Martinsville.

A schedule for ceremonies for each day has been prepared. One of the features will be the parade on Wednesday afternoon. Several of the companies are bringing their bands, and all of the programs will be crowded with music. The camp will be established on the school lawn at the south edge of the city, and the gymnasium will be used for inside drilling and housing some of the visiting companies.

Several of the visiting companies will pitch their tents on the school ground campus and others will house themselves in the gymnasium, hotels and private homes.

Various cash prizes will be offered for the best drilled company. (Continued on Page Three)

TWO DEMONSTRATIONS, PLAN

Another One For People of Northern
Rush County Announced for Mays

With the announcement of a canning demonstration to be held in this city Monday afternoon, interest has increased and another demonstration will be held Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock at Mays in order to permit the people of northern Rush county a chance to attend.

The demonstration here at two o'clock Monday will be given in the Graham high school building in the domestic science room. The method of practical canning will be explained, and all women are invited to attend. The girls who are members of the home economics classes and canning clubs of the county, are also invited and should attend the sessions, according to club leaders.

MUSIC EXPECTED TO BE BIG FEATURE

Light Opera, Grand Opera, Jubilee, Quartet and Band Programs at Rush County Chautauqua

WILL OPEN SUNDAY, AUG. 9

One of Exceedingly Interesting
Programs Will be Offered by Little Opera Company

Music will be an outstanding feature of the annual Rush county chautauqua, opening Sunday, August 9, and continuing until the following Sunday.

The assembly will open with two appearances of the Garner Jubilee company, a premier negro organization, and on Tuesday Thavin and his celebrated band will be the attraction, with afternoon and evening concerts.

The Little American Opera company will be here Wednesday and on Thursday the Tooley Opera company will provide a costume musical prelude and a popular light opera in the evening. Friday the marimbaphone sextette will be here for two pre-ludes, and in the evening, Chief Capolician, South American Indian and grand opera singer, will appear in concert. The Chicago mixed quartet will be the closing musical attraction on Sunday.

One of the exceedingly interesting programs of the coming chautauqua assembly will be that of The Little American Opera Company, which will visualize "big moments from Opera."

This noted organization has chosen from perhaps a dozen of the standard operas in both the grand opera and comic fields, the finest solos, duets, trios and quartet arrangements available. The numbers are presented with special attention to staging, costuming and dramatic interpretation. The company is comprised of five people, in the form of a mixed quartet and an accomplished pianist, and all have had long experience in concert and recital work, and also in the operatic field as well.

The program which they offer is one that will appease the musical craving of those who love selections from grand opera, or rather, those who love grand opera itself. They have simply "lifted" the big scenes out of the most popular operatic works of all time, and the result is a most interesting, entertaining and fascinating program.

TO SWELL VALUATION TOTAL $64,000,000

Equalization Orders Issued by the State Board Increases More Than
First Expected

MORE THAN HALF ON FARMS

After Increases Ordered, There Will be Net Decrease of About $75,-
000,000 From Last Year

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 1—Equalization orders issued to the county boards of review of fifty two counties of the state for revision of assessments on real estate and personal property will swell the total taxation valuation far more than was at first estimated by the board.

Owen S. Boling, secretary of the board, said the net result of the board's orders will be an increase of about $64,000,000 over the figures prepared by the county assessors.

Of this amount, $38,000,000 is represented in increases in farm land and the remaining $26,000,000 is in property of corporate cities and towns.

The figures presented by the assessors showed a decrease of $137,000,000 over last year's assessment total.

Even after the increases ordered by the board are put into effect, there will be a net decrease of between $70,000,000 and $75,000,000 from last year's valuations.

The board's orders specified an increase of certain percentages in the property of counties affected.

Boling has not yet completed his estimate of the actual amount of assessment increases on all the counties.

Figures available place the increases ordered as follows: Adams, $1,009,000; Blackford, $1,387,000; Boone, $2,804,700; Clay, $1,058,210; Decatur, $1,350,000; DeKalb, $1,408,000; Delaware, $801,000; Fountain, $3,020,000; Henry, $35,700; Laporte, $1,249,000; Lake, $2,011,000; Marshall, $1,917,000; Monroe, $1,991,000; Montgomery, $5,991,000.

The tax board in reviewing assessments this year found its task particularly difficult because of the reappraisal of all real estate ordered last winter.

Final adjustment of all assessments will leave the total valuation of taxable property in Indiana above the $5,000,000,000 mark, according to state officials.

Valuations on railroads and utilities are set directly by the state tax board.

As long as the taxation valuation does not fall below the $5,000,000,000 mark, the administration can go. (Continued on Page Three)

NOTIFIES AUDITOR NO CHANGES WILL BE MADE

State Board of Tax Commissioners
Confirms Announcements Made
Friday About Assessments

LETTER FROM SECRETARY

Harry Myers, county auditor, received official confirmation from the state board of tax commissioners today that the local assessments for taxation purposes in Rush county would not be disturbed. It came in the form of a letter from Owen S. Boling, secretary of the tax board.

County taxing officials felt reasonably certain that the assessments fixed by the township assessors and approved with slight changes by the county board of review, would not be changed by the state board, because Rush county ranked well with similar counties and made a much better showing than many.

The state board announced Friday that changes had been ordered in fifty-two counties.

It was recalled this morning the trouble that was caused when the state board ordered a large number of horizontal increases in this county six years ago. In cases where personal property was increased, notes and money which are assessed at 100 percent, had to be deducted and then added again after the raise was made. Much confusion and dissatisfaction among taxpayers resulted.

Theatricals

Rin-Tin-Tin at Princess
Any picture in which Rin-Tin-Tin, the famous Warner dog star appears, is always a delight, but "The Lighthouse by the Sea," which opened at the Princess theatre last night for a two-days' run, proved a rare pleasure because of Louise Fazenda, the popular comedienne of the movies, who plays the leading female role.

Rin-Tin-Tin and Miss Fazenda are the pivot around which the whole exacting photoplay revolves, from the majestic drama of the sea, against which the story is set, to the bitter struggle between revenue officers and an unscrupulous band of bootleggers, operating along the coast that is lit up at night by the lighthouse that thwarts their evil plans.

"Buster" Collier, Jr., Mathew Betz, Douglas Gerrard and Charles Hill Mailes support Rin-Tin-Tin and Louise Fazenda in this screen version of Owen Davis' stage success, "The Lighthouse by the Sea," which was directed by Mal St. Clair, from the scenario by Darryl Francis Zanuck. The picture is admirably directed and mounted, while the absorbing flow of the story carried the audience along with it, faster and faster, until the climax finished the tense, exciting picture and everybody dropped back into their seats, well satisfied with an evening thoroughly enjoyed.

"The Prairie Wife," Castle
A picture in which humor is stressed, but in which "hardship and struggle is the underlying theme, is "The Prairie Wife," Hugo Ballin's production which is offered today at the Castle.

It is an adaptation of Arthur Stringer's novel of that title, and shows the struggles of a cultured society girl who marries a young westerner. Her husband owns a homestead on the middle-western prairies, and his young wife takes up her life in this desolate country.

The struggles of the young couple to make a farm of the barren land is depicted with mixtures of quiet drama and delicate humor. The prairie fire—the mysterious laborer—the strange neighbors—the baby who finally comes to both burden and lighten the household—these are the high points in this unusual film.

Dorothy Devore, winsome screen comedienne, plays the title character with much feeling, and with her highly developed sense of comedy. Opposite her is Herbert Rawlinson, who gives another of his excellent portrayals of the virile American man.

Trovatore", "Cavalleria Rusticana" and other operas will be visualized.

The Little American Opera Company comes to the chautauqua with a long list of chautauqua successes. For the past two seasons they have been delighting audiences in the East and middle western sections, and the chautauqua committee can well feel proud of the fact that they have engaged this sterling attraction as one of the big musical numbers.

The afternoon program will feature various selections, including ballads, negro folk and plantation songs, Italian songs and old-fashioned numbers.

This company has been arranged keeping in mind both its genuine musicianship its dramatic abilities and its particular adaptability to chautauqua conditions and chautauqua audiences. There is nothing experimental whatever in engaging this company, because it's work is already exceptionally well-known in the chautauqua field.

INDIANA HOST AT DAIRY EXPOSITION

Manufacturing, Banking and Agricultural Interests to Join in Entertaining National Event

FIRST TIME IN INDIANA

Dean W. E. Skinner of Purdue Department of Agriculture Will be General Manager

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 1—(U.P.)—Indiana manufacturing, banking and agricultural interests will be the hosts to the National Dairy Exposition which comes to this state for the first time this fall.

The exposition, to be held at the state fair grounds on October 10 to 17 will bring to Indianapolis the leaders in American dairy agriculture and the nation's greatest exhibit of dairy cattle, products and machinery.

Upon the invitations of all manufacturing, banking and agricultural interests of the state the exposition is coming to one of the newer dairy sections of America to afford the people of this region an opportunity to observe and study the progress made in producing and handling dairy products.

Dean W. E. Skinner, of the Purdue University department of agriculture, is secretary and general manager of the exposition.

The exposition is a cross section of one of the nation's largest and most important food-producing industries. It furnished a graphic picture of every branch of the dairy business, which produces more than two and one half billion dollars each year for American farmers.

The exposition will bring together for comparison and exhibition 1,500 of the best pure bred dairy cattle in this country and Canada, 300 high producing dairy cows from cow testing associations and 300 pure bred dairy calves owned by boys and girls in calf clubs.

More than 250 manufacturers will exhibit scientific equipment for handling milk and its products in the modern factory and on the dairy farm.

Hundreds of samples of dairy products, the best work of experts throughout America, will be entered in competition for the prizes.

The educational exhibits, demonstrations, contests and lectures will make up a comprehensive short course of education full of practical helpfulness for all branches of the industry.

Of special interest this year will be the health food show, giving for the first time a definite classification of the primal health foods for man and exhibits of modern devices for lessening the work of the housewife.

There will also be contests, de-

Eighteen Hours of Rainfall Results in Factories Closing

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 1—(U.P.)—Eighteen hours of continuous rainfall, which at times reached almost cloudburst proportions, placed the city on a near flood basis when it stopped early today.

Five large automobile factories were either wholly or partially forced to close down due to the influx of water; thousands of basements were filled with from three to six feet of water; several miles of street pavement was wrecked, while telegraph, telephone and transportation facilities were paralyzed.

monstrations and exhibits by and for boys and girls in dairy calf clubs from many states.

The United States bureau of dairying will provide a complete short course in better dairying and a variety of exhibits of the work of agricultural colleges is planned.

Railroads of the United States and Canada will offer special rates to persons attending the exposition and county agents, farm bureaus, bankers and commercial organizations throughout the middlewest are organizing automobile tours to take in the event.

The national dairy exposition was founded twenty years ago for the betterment of the industry.

No Conflict With Andrews

The statement attributed to the Anti-Saloon League that prohibition will never be adequately tested until enforcement is in the hands of its friends implies no criticism of General Lincoln C. Andrews, the League points out in a statement. The statement is obviously true and justified. Prohibition enforcement should be in the hands of its friends from top to bottom. Every United States official, whether connected with the prohibition unit or with federal courts, every United States commissioner, every United States marshal, should be a supporter of the American policy of liquor suppression.

Mr. Mellon, the secretary of the treasury, because of his associations and his interest in the whisky business in former years was not considered by prohibitionists as the proper person to be in charge of enforcement. But there is circumstantial evidence that, so far from hampering prohibition enforcement at the present time, Mr. Mellon is following a policy of absolute non-interference and of sympathetic support of his subordinates charged with enforcement of the Volstead law. The Anti-Saloon League believes that General Andrews is being allowed a free hand. Being a gentleman and a soldier, the general is the friend of prohibition because he is the enemy of law-breaking, just as during the war against Germany he was a whole-hearted supporter of his country against its external enemies.

The frequent assertion that "prohibition is having its last trial" is simply father to the thought. Prohibition will never have its last trial in America, no more than the republican form of government will have its last trial. One objective and only one is in view: satisfactory enforcement. And this objective will be reached no matter whether it takes five years or one hundred years. Prohibitionists are prepared to fight it out on this line for uncounted summers, if necessary, and their children are prepared to take up the battle for America against liquor treason when this generation has passed from the scene.

Sad as the news may be, however, to the enemies of prohibition, this will not be necessary. The cord of enforcement is tightening about the neck of the bootlegger and the time of his end may be mathematically computed.

Vacation Values

Lives there a man, who doesn't view with sadness, the day that he returns from vacation to take up the daily grind once more!

He thinks of the happy care-free days he enjoyed, with no responsibilities, no worries for his troubled brain, and the undisturbed nights of restful sleep.

Some folks look upon the return from vacation with dark forebodings, much as they do when they arise on a sunless morning, with no enthusiasm for the day's work.

But vacations help to throw off the depression that comes with monotonous work. They give the tired muscles opportunity to relax, the Matrimony makes two people one, but it makes one grocery bill two.

Nothing can feel better and look worse than an old pair of shoes.

We are getting ready for airplane traffic. Lots of our highways are built for just a few years.

Beauty and brains seldom go together. That would be like putting gasoline on powder to make it worse.

jagged nerves a rest and the fagged brain a chance to begin to function normally.

The return to work may seem irksome, but the feeling soon passes, because the daily routine is less burdensome, when the body has had an opportunity to recuperate.

Vacations have value. They send us home with a new appreciation of our job, and better work results.

Life is Cheap

Life is a cheap commodity in these days of homicide, matricide, patricide and just plain murder.

A Chicago woman paid a gunman $400 to kill her husband because he abused her daughter by another marriage. The gunman paid $200 to another gunman to have the victim slain and the second gunman's wife stole the money and spent it in Milwaukee.

This is a sordid story that is not uncommon. The price of life has become so cheap that men will take it unflinchingly for a few paltry dollars.

It is a sorry commentary on our boasted civilization that we have produced such specimens of humanity.

CIVIL WAR "ENOCH ARDEN," 95, WAITS FOR THE LEES OF LIFE TO RUN COURSE

Joaquin, Tex., Aug. 1.—The gray-glad line emerged from the tangle of brush and young trees, paused for a moment as if to gather all its strength, and charged hotly up the slope.

The air was split with the shrill rebel yell. In answer, from the hill crest opposite, came a thunderous roar of artillery fire. The gray line faltered, closed its ranks and came on again.

The great battle of Chickamauga was on.

Tragedy hovered over the green slope at nightfall. And amid the confusion of the battle field, where the screaming shrapnel wiped out whole companies and men's names were less than a puff of star dust in the outer darkness, the fate of the individual soldier did not count.

So that is why young John A. Pinkard, private in the army of the south, got lost—lost from his company, lost from the sight of men that knew him, lost from everything that had made life dear to him.

Pinkard, who dragged himself off the field and fell in with the first bunch of troopers he met, was reported as dead. And so—but let him tell it.

Pinkard now is 95, a retired minister, a quiet old man who is waiting in this quiet Texas village for the leas of life to run out.

"When I enlisted I had a wife, and a child by a former marriage," he says. "During the first year of the war another child was born. My wife and family stayed with her parents."

"Now when I left we had taken a wounded soldier to our house to recover and he stayed there during my absence. After Chickamauga news came to my family that I had been killed. It was three years before I could return home."

"When I got back, at last, I found preparations for a wedding in progress. My wife, believing me dead, had worn mourning for two years—and then she learned to love the young man left behind four years before.

"I gave her her choice. She chose him."

"Well"—the old man bent his head a little. "We talked it over, and I arranged for her to have a divorce."

"She kept the girls and I took a train to get as far away from that town—Cross Plains, Tenn.—as I could. I never went back."

"I came to Texas and eventually married. Then I learned that my

My wife were mourning for two years and at the end of the third year I came back.

Then, this year, my two daughters, both grown old and prosperous, came to visit me. They stayed a whole week.

"When I last saw them they were both under ten years of age. Now one is 67 and the other is 64."

"Their mother is well, they say. And I? Well, I have no regrets. I have seen my two babies."

NEARLY INSANE AT TIMES

Mrs. Saunders Tells how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Relieved Troubles of Change of Life

Knoxville, Tenn.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound while going through the Change of Life. I was very nervous, could not sleep and had melancholy spells. In fact, I was nearly insane at times and my memory was almost blank. I was so weak I could not do my housework half of the time and suffered dreadfully with my back. My doctor said I would have to worry it out and I went through this for three years before I began taking the Vegetable Compound which I saw advertised. I think it was eight bottles that I took. It has been two years since I took any and I haven't had a doctor since for that trouble. I do all my washing and ironing and I have gained from 116 to 138 pounds. I feel so physically and mentally as I did to give the Vegetable Compound a fair trial. I hope it will do as much for them as it did for me."—Mrs. T. A. SAUNDERS, 711 E. ## Stewart's Washington Letter.

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—The Democrats have doped out a program they believe will make the Republicans a heap of trouble at the next session of Congress. The Republicans have doped out a counter-program to ward this trouble off.

The Democratic scheme is to make an awful racket about tariff reduction. The Republican scheme is to make so much more racket about tax reduction that the tariff reduction racket will be drowned out.

Both parties will be doing their hollering with a view to its effect on the 1926 congressional elections.

"The tariff," said the Democrats to themselves, "is an important issue, but little understood, except by economists, of whom there are precious few. We must jazz it up for common folks. Wouldn't it be grand if we could get the solid women's vote?"

"By gracious! Maybe we can. Look how the cost of housekeeping has been rising lately. And women pay the bills. They'll be in a mighty favorable frame of mind to listen when we tell 'em, 'We cut taxes down.'"

THE Republican offering will be tax reduction. Every time a Democrat urges tariff reduction a Republican will remind the nation that his party is in the very act of reducing taxes.

The Republicans meant to reduce them anyway and they'll make the most of doing it.

And in the 1926 campaign, every time a Democrat pleads for a chance to lower living costs by tariff reduction, a Republican will answer, "That's talk. We acted. We cut taxes down."

THE high tariff's what makes everything so expensive."

The Republicans are painfully conscious that this may be so.

THE Republicans can't prevent the Democrats in Congress from telling the nation, in dozens of speeches next winter, what a good thing tariff reduction would be.

They can contradict, but they suspect the Democratic argument, presented as evidently it's going to be presented, will have a pretty strong appeal. They want something to talk about themselves—and something to show, that they've actually done for the voters.

It Was Music Anyway

One night recently, when the Rushville boosters quartet was singing at a township farm bureau meeting, members of the quartet noticed that all of them were not singing the same words. They all seemed to have the "tune" all right, but A. M. Taylor had a different version as to words.

Nothing was said about it afterwards, and the other three members of the quartet concluded in their own minds that Mr. Taylor had been "making up" the words.

"I thought he was doing a good job of it," one of the quartet said, "because they rhymed, but I noticed as we sang each verse that the words varied."

The next night the same thing happened and Mr. Taylor was asked why he was using new words and he explained that he was following the words—as printed in the book "to the letter."

The other fellows were skeptical and they asked to see the book. They found Mr. Taylor was entirely right. He had been given a different book which had different words for the song that the quartet sang regularly each night.

TAIL LIGHTS SET FOR BATTLE AT SHELBYVILLE

Will Make Extra Effort to Keep Pace
at Which They Have Been Going
For Several Weeks

SHAW IS GOING GOOD CLIP

The Rushville Tail Lights are all set for their battle with the strong Shelbyville team at that city. Sunday. The Tail Lights have hit their stride and are traveling at a fast pace. The team is out of a batting slump that affected them for a few games in June. During the past four games the local team has collected more than ten hits in each game. Hits mean runs and the locals have scored and won games on earned runs and not on errors.

Another feature of the locals has been the strong pitching of Shaw. Shaw has been setting down the opposing batters with very few hits and has built up a record rivaling Dazy Vance for strikeouts. With rare exceptions the local men have played errorless baseball behind Shaw and have given him support that wins. A great deal of credit belongs to the team for the faithful practice that they indulge in. The team is out for a record and knows that team work is the thing. Practice develops this and Rushville is gradually developing into one of the best team work clubs in this section of the state.

The fans of Rushville have been turning out to the games loyally and the local management appreciates this and is looking the best games for the local team. A good crowd will go to the Shelbyville game tomorrow.

New York, July 31—Another one of those pesky controversies arose when a German promoter charged that Loren Marchison and Charley Paddock, two American sprinters, "put the gun on him," as the boys say, when he signed them to appear in a meet in Berlin.

were almost identical to those made by several American promoters against Paavo Nurmi when he was here last winter and the action against the two American sprinters may be a counter punch.

Nurmi was investigated by several special committees of the Amateur Athletic Union and was declared not guilty. The investigation against Marchison and Paddock, no doubt will result in the same finding.

If Marchison and Paddock were guilty the case would be almost impossible to prove. No athlete would be such a sap as to leave any proof behind him. He wouldn't take a check, he wouldn't sign any incriminating papers and he wouldn't have any material witnesses around when he used the gun.

There is no intention to try Marchison or Paddock in this column. The issues dealt with are only generalities and no specific cases are cited.

If there are to be amateur athletes, there ought to be amateur promoters. Every meet that is staged under the auspices of a club or an individual promoter is staged with the idea of making money. Every squawk that has been made in recent years against an athlete has been made by a promoter who admitted directly or indirectly that he wanted the athlete for the purpose of drawing a big gate.

There must be significance in the fact that no charges against an amateur athlete have been made by such reliable clubs as the New York Athletic Club, the Illinois Athletic Club, the Chicago A. A., the Boston A. A., the Meadowbrook Club, the Los Angeles A. A., or the Olympic Club of San Francisco.

It is the promoter who is running a meet on his own, with some kind of an "auspices" behind him who raises the squawks.

Some very interesting opinions were expressed recently by a veteran track man, who has had years of experience as a promoter and a coach.

"I think," he said, "that an athlete is entitled to something more than bare expenses. Years ago I used to run meets. I always got some fraternal or charitable organization to share in the profits for their support. I knew that local talent wouldn't draw a dime and that we would have to get three or four headlines. I got them, and when they came from a distance they got liberal expense accounts and there was no kick coming.

The track athlete, especially those who do not come from one of the wealthy colleges, is of a poorer class financially than the athletes in any other class. You can't expect a man to leave his work for four days, take a trip from Chicago to Boston and back, for the pure love of running. That love for sport does not make up for the money that was doctored out of his pay envelope."

So many of these cases of fees and padded expense accounts are coming to attention that the A. A. U. surely must realize, by this time, that the idea of "sport for the love of sport" is behind the times. The idea of the pure amateur is not practical in athletics, tennis, golf or swimming. If the athlete is not getting money, some one is getting it, and getting it at the sacrifice of the athlete.

APPROXIMATELY TWENTY CARS TO START IN DERBY

Two Ford Races, One For 25 Miles
And Another for 50, Scheduled for This Afternoon

STARTER TO GIVE EXHIBITION

Approximately twenty cars will respond with a rush this afternoon at the dirt mile track south of this city when the starter's flag is unfurled, signifying the beginning of two races, with only Ford cars, with no special equipment, entered, it was announced by the officials of the race this morning.

A twenty-five mile race and a fifty mile race will make up the afternoon's program, besides an exhibition by Fred Clemons, noted dirt track race driver, who will precede the contests by circling the track several times in an attempt to break the dirt track record, in one of his Clemons' specials. Clemons is the official starter of the race.

O. F. Bussard, who with George Poston is in charge of the Derby, will pace the racers for the first lap of each race in a Dodge coupe. Cars from Alexandria, Columbus, Seymour and Covington, Ky., will take part, it is understood, and the record of 38 miles per hour, which was hung up in the last race a month ago, is expected to be shattered.

The track was in excellent condition this morning following the rains in the past few days and a real thrilling exhibition is expected to be staged with the large number of cars in the field.

The Reds made it seven straight when Jakey May downed the Braves 4 to 3.

Good support behind young Wingfield enabled the Red Sox to beat the Indians 7 to 3.

This Minute Fads

Hedda Hoyt Talks About Things That Interest The Busy Woman of 1925

By HEDDA HOYT
(Written for United Press)
New York, August 1—This moment's joy may be tomorrow's sorrow. For what's worn today, becomes a "ford" tomorrow!

With warm days many women are wearing chamoisette or silk gloves in preference to kid. Most popular colors are light tones on tan or gray.

The younger element in New York is wearing blood shoes and hosiery. Both blond satin and kid shoes are used for street wear and hosiery matches shoes.

Several women are carrying canes. One sees them on the street with mannish suits and at teatime at the hotels worn with gowns of Directoire type. Canes are of mannish type rather than colorful.

Hand-painted dresses are shown in the shops on the Avenue. These are not hats, but beautifully hand-painted designs on evening and afternoon frocks.

Turtle-necked sweaters are vying with V-neck. Opinion has it that smart women prefer the turtle-necked types, whereas the cheaply gowned women prefer the lower necked models. Turtle-necks with the side opening, made of silk jersey or cobweb in pastel shades, are those most in demand and they are usually worn with pleated flannel skirts.

Coats and frocks with ripple backs are again to come in vogue. At present there is no attempt toward the reinstatement of the bustle, since the fullness begins just above the knees. However, we'll soon be reversing our fullness from the front to the rear.

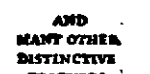

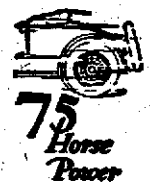

Wide, transparent horsehair hats are frequently worn on the Avenue these afternoons. Brown is the popular shade and trimming is almost a minus quantity. Models recently seen are not extremely short in the rear but slope off gradually from front to rear.

Stockings trimmed in colored rascals below the knee were seen on three women, a girl in a small candy shop, an elderly would-be flapper and a negress. This is pretty good proof they will not be chosen by smart women.

Marion—Widows, widowers, maids and bachelors of Marion are planning to organize a club. A meeting has been called, and all those intending to join have been requested to wear a red ribbon. The purpose is said to be friendship and fraternal cheer.

Winchester—Rev. P. E. Greenwalt took eighty boys to the Indiana State Reformatory at Pendleton. He took them on a tour.

Death of Dwight Tracy, 7, Chicago Believed Due to Drowning

Chicago, Aug. 1—U.P.—Search for Dwight Tracy, seven year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Atlee H. Tracy, who had been missing since Monday ended today when the boy's body was found in Lake Michigan a few blocks from his home.

Two men who were fishing at the place noticed a strange reflection in the water and investigated. They found it to be the boy's body, badly bruised and partly decomposed. The father was called at once and identified the body as that of his son.

Police said the bruises did not indicate that the youth had been murdered. They expressed belief he had fallen into the water and drowned.
